CHICO » Last week's temperatures won't be anything like next week's. It's going to be colder than cold.

Two rushes of cold air — one from Alaska, one from Canada — will push north valley night temperatures into the frigid zone.

Overnight temperatures could be in the low 30s to mid 20s, with the coldest night expected to be Monday, and frosty lows reach through the weekend.

"It's a stark reminder that it's still winter," said meteorologist Marc Walsh of the Western Weather Group, based in Chico. The forecasters issued a frost forecast, warning of "moderate to hard freezes next week."

The cold rush starts coming Saturday night though, so cover plants and bring in pets. Watch out for livestock too.

If you're an almond grower, good luck.

Walsh said the two weather models he's been watching

Russians charged with meddling in 2016 election

By Eric Tucker

The Associated Press

WASHINGTON » In an extraordinary indictment, the U.S. special counsel accused 13 Russians Friday of an elaborate plot to disrupt the 2016 presidential election, charging them with running a huge but hidden social media trolling campaign aimed in part at helping Republican Donald Trump defeat Democrat Hillary Clinton.

The federal indictment, brought by special counsel Robert Mueller, represents the most detailed allegations to date of illegal Russian meddling during the campaign that sent Trump to the White House. It also marks the first criminal charges against Russians believed to have secretly worked to influence the outcome.

The Russian organization was funded by Yevgeny Prigozhin, the indictment says. He is a wealthy St. Petersburg businessman with ties to the Russian government and President Vladimir Putin.

Trump quickly claimed vindication Friday, noting in a tweet that the alleged interference ef-

Dave Dorsey of Paradise heads out fishing Friday on Lake Oroville from the Lake Oroville Marina at Lime Saddle. The slowly rising lake has allowed the ramps there to open. Dorsey said the fishing has been slow and he has been catching only small fish recently but was happy the Lime Saddle ramp was open for him to launch. "I was getting tired of going to Bidwell every time" he said.

Lake Oroville is about 175 below being full, as seen Friday near the Lake Oroville Marina at Lime Saddle.

Superintendents share safety plans, mental health resources

CHICO » School safety has been on the forefront of the minds of Butte County educators in the wake of a shooting Wednesday at a Parkland, Florida high school that left 17 dead.

That incident was one of five school shootings in the United States this year that occurred during school hours and caused injury, according to the Washington Post. Local superintendents said in interviews Friday that they know parents are worried and they want the community to know that schools are prepared.

"We've had a crisis response plan since 2000 in all of our schools," Oroville Union High School District Superintendent Corey Willenberg said. "Every time there's an incident we review our plan. We did it yesterday after what happened in Florida. We review it just to make sure we have all of our bases covered."

Every school district in the county is required to have an emergency response plan, Butte County Office of Education Superintendent Tim Taylor said, and BCOE reviews those plans every spring to ensure they are up to date.

Chico Unified works closely with local law enforcement on issues of school safety, Superintendent Kelly Staley said. Chico police on Thursday sent officers to local schools in the morning and afternoon in response to the Florida shooting, the superintendent said.

The school district also works with the Chico police on its emergency plan.

Every Chico Unified school and every student, at all grade levels, participates in lockdown drills. School sites work to ensure that every student understands what to do in an emergency situation, something that educators have to handle carefully among young students, Staley said.
